ANNUAL DRINKING WATER QUALITY REPORT
STEPHENS COUNTY RURAL WATER DISTRICT #5

-We're very pleased to provide you with this year's Annual Drinking Water Quality Report. We want to keep you informed about the excellent water and services we have delivered to you over the past year. Our goal is and always has been, to provide to you a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. This report shows our water quality and what it means.

-Our water source is groundwater and surface water. Groundwater is drawn from the Rush Springs Aquifer located Northwest of Marlow in Section 5-T2N-R8W, NE/4. An analysis of contamination susceptibility of our source water has been done. The analysis showed that our water's susceptibility to contamination is LOW. This plan is available for viewing in our office. Information such as potential sources of contamination is listed in the plan.

-I am pleased to report that our drinking water is safe and meets Federal and State requirements. If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Brett Kimbro at (580) 658-6109. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. If you want to learn more, please attend any of our regularly scheduled meetings. They are held on the second Tuesday of each month at the Stephens County Rural Water District #5 office in Marlow at 7:00 p.m.

-Stephens County Rural Water District #5 routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. This table shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 2012 (Some of our data may be more than one year old because the state allows us to monitor for some contaminants less often than once per year.) All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. It's important to remember that the presence of these contaminants does not necessarily pose a health risk.

-WATER QUALITY DATA TABLE

-The table below lists all of the drinking water contaminants we detected for the calendar year of this report. The presence of contaminants in the water does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. Unless otherwise noted, the data presented in this table is from testing done in the calendar year of the report.

-In this table you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

-Non-Detects (ND) - laboratory analysis indicates that the constituent is not present. Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/L): Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter (ug/L): Parts per trillion (ppt) or Nanograms per liter (nanograms/L): Parts per quadrillion (ppq) or Picograms per liter (picograms/L) Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) - picocuries per liter is a measure of the radioactivity in water.

-Millirems per year (mrem/yr) - measure of radiation absorbed by the body. Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - nephelometric turbidity unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person. Action Level (AL) - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow. Treatment Technique (TT) - A treatment technique is a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water. Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) - The MCL is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology. Maximum Contaminant Level Goal - The MCLG is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

WATER QUALITY DATA
Contaminant	Value in Yr No	High est Leve l Detec ted	Range Detec ted	MCL	MCL G	Likely Source of Contamination
Inorganic Contaminants
1. Copper (ppm)	N	1.3 MG/L		AL=1.3	1.3	Corrosion of household plumbing system; erosion of natural deposits; leaching from wood preservatives
2. Nitrate (measured as Nitrogen)	N	1	0.35-1.5	10	10	Runoff from fertilizer use; Leaching from septic tanks, sewage; Erosion of natural deposits
Volatile Organic Contaminants
3. Haloacetic Acids (HAA5) (ppb)	N	51	0-72	60	N/A	By-product of drinking water disinfection
4. TTHM [Total trihalomethanes] (ppb)	Y	182	147.5-248.4	80	N/A	By-product of drinking water disinfection

Inorganic Contaminants:

(1) Copper. Copper is an essential nutrient, but some people who drink water containing copper in excess of the action level over a relatively short amount of time could experience gastrointestinal distress. Some people who drink water containing copper in excess of the action level over many years could suffer liver or kidney damage. People with Wilson's disease should consult their personal doctor. (2) Nitrate. Infants below the age of six months who drink water containing nitrate in excess of the MCL could become seriously ill and, if untreated, may die. Symptoms include shortness of breath and blue-baby syndrome.

Volatile Organic Contaminants:

(3) Haloacetic Acids. Some people who drink water containing haloacetic acids in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer. (4) TTHMs [Total Trihalomethanes]. Some people who drink water containing trihalomethanes in excess of the MCL over many years may experience problems with their liver, kidneys, or central nervous systems, and may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

-Nitrate in drinking water at levels above 10 ppm is a health risk for infants of less than six months of age. High nitrate levels in drinking water can cause blue baby syndrome. Nitrate levels may rise quickly for short periods of time because of rainfall or agricultural activity. If you are caring for an infant you should ask advice from your health care provider.

-Infants and young children are typically more vulnerable to lead in drinking water than the general population. It is possible that lead levels at your home may be higher than at other homes in the community as a result of materials used in your home's plumbing. If you are concerned about elevated lead levels in your home's water, you may wish to have your water tested and flush your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using tap water. Additional information is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (1-800-426-4791).

-Stage 2 DBP Rule requires some systems to complete an Initial Distribution System Evaluation (IDSE) to characterize DBP levels in their distribution systems and identify locations to monitor DBPs for Stage 2 DBP rule compliance. The following table summarizes the individual sample results for the IDSE monitoring in 2012:

2012 Regulated Contaminants Detected

Lead and Copper

Definitions:
Action Level Lead (AL): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. ALs allow for a margin of safety.
Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Lead and Copper	Date Sampled	MSD	Action Level (AL)	2015 Percentile	# Sites Over AL	Units	Violation	Likely Source of Contamination
Copper	2012	3.3	3.3	0.167	0	ppm	0	Erosion of natural deposits; Leaching from wood preservatives; Corrosion of household plumbing systems.

Water Quality Test Results

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) or MSD:	The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLs allow for a margin of safety.
Maximum Contaminant Level or MCL:	The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
Maximum residual disinfectant level (MRL) or MSD:	The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MSDs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contamination.
Maximum residual disinfectant level or MRL:	The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.
Definitions:	The following tables contain scientific terms and measures, some of which may require explanation.
ppb:	micrograms per liter or parts per billion - or one million to 1,000,000 gallons of water;
mg:	not applicable.
Avg:	regulatory compliance with some MCLs are based on running annual average of monthly samples.
mg/l:	milligrams per liter or parts per million - or one million to 1,000 gallons of water.

Regulated Contaminants

Disinfectants and Disinfection By-Products	Collection Date	Highest Level Detected	Range of Levels Detected	MSD	MCL	Units	Violation	Likely Source of Contamination
Haloacetic Acids (HAA5)	2012	51	0 - 72	No goal for the total	60	ppb	0	By-product of drinking water disinfection.
Total Trihalomethanes (TTHM)	2012	182	147.5 - 248.4	No goal for the total	80	ppb	Y	By-product of drinking water disinfection.
Inorganic Contaminants	Collection Date	Highest Level Detected	Range of Levels Detected	MSD	MCL	Units	Violation	Likely Source of Contamination
Nitrate (Measured as Nitrogen)	2012	1	0.35 - 1.5	10	10	ppm	0	Runoff from fertilized use; Leaching from septic tanks, sewage; Erosion of natural deposits.

Violations Table

Total Trihalomethanes (TTHM)
Some people who drink water containing trihalomethanes in excess of the MCL over many years may experience problems with their liver, kidneys, or central nervous systems, and may have an increased risk of getting cancer.
Violation Type	Violation Begin	Violation End	Violation Explanation
MCL - AVERAGE	07/01/2012	09/30/2012	Water sample showed that the amount of this contaminant in our drinking water was above the standard (called a maximum contaminant level and abbreviated MCL) for the period indicated.
MCL - AVERAGE	12/01/2012	12/31/2012	Water sample showed that the amount of this contaminant in our drinking water was above the standard (called a maximum contaminant level and abbreviated MCL) for the period indicated.

The Oklahoma Department of Environmental Quality and City of Duncan Municiple Water crews routinely monitor for constituents in your drinking water according to federal and state laws. This table shows the results of our monitoring applicable to the period of January 1, 2012 through December 31, 2012. All drinking water, including bottled water may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some constituents. It is important to remember that the presence of these constituents does not necessarily pose a health risk.

2012 Water Quality Data
CONTAMINANT	LAST DATE TESTED	UNIT	MCL	MCLG	DETECTED LEVEL	RANGE	MAJOR SOURCE	VIOLATION
Regulated at the Treatment Plant
Fluoride - Total	2011	ppm	4	0	0.28-0.28		Erosion of natural deposits	No
Radium 226 & 228	07/17/12	pCi/L	5	0	1.49-1.49		Erosion of natural deposits	No
